ABOUT THE CONFERENCE ...

The aim of the conference is to present the final intellectual output of the two-year project – guideline for teachers and public, which includes directions and advice on how to integrate animals into the educational system.

The project is coordinated by Ljudska univerza Rogaska Slatina and involves 10 different organizations from eight different counties – three organizations from Slovenia and educational organizations from Greece, Ireland, Romania, Turkey, Hungary, Croatia and Poland.

Intellectual output of the project, the guideline for teachers and public, will be available in English, Slovenian, Hungarian, Greek, Croatian, Romanian and Turkish language and it will be available for a free download on the project website and also in paper form for all teachers, who wish to bring innovative methods with animals into the classrooms.

Ljudska univerza Rogaska Slatina, the coordinator of the project, will also offer trainings about how to use the guideline to all the interested parties.
